KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS. Fifteen Thousand Men Respond to the

Reveille. MILWAUKEE, July 5th.—There is something of a row in the Uniformed Rank, Kn ghts of Pyth-ias, and the number of men in the regiments to march in the parade threatens to be consider-ably reduced. The regiment from California brought along a carload of the output of the Pacific coast vineyards. The Knights were in ignorance of the Chief's order and proceeded to roll their wine into camp. It was ordered out and a row ensued. The Far West men said they would camp beside their grape juice outside the walls. This they have done, and the regular encampment is minus a stalwart regiment. Approximately, 15,000 men responded to reveille at Camp Carnahan this morning, but for all that is positively known at General Carnahan's headquarters there might have been a million men under tents last night. There is a deplorable lack of system about the management of the camp, and responsibility does not seem to rest on the shoulders of any particular person. Up to noon only two brigadiers had submitted to Adjutant-General McKee the report of the number of men under their jurisdiction.

KANNAS CITY, July 8th.—Frank Terry, a Wells, Fargo & Co. Express messenger, his helper and the baggage-man had a lively experience with a mammoth seal on the Sania Fe train yesterday. There were four seals ordered from the Seal Islands in the Pacific for the New York Zoological Garden. They left San Francisco in large wooden cages. The heat and the absence of water proved disastrous to the first three seals. The female died at Denver. On the train between that point and Kansas City one of the males went mad and attacked his mate, killing her almost instantly by biting her head nearly off. He raved several hours, and the express messenger and the other occupants of the car were considerably frightened lest he should break the strong cage and escape.

The animal finally quieted and gave the messenger no further trouble until Argentine was reached. Then he became furious and raising himself on his foremost fins, used his tail with such force that he broke the cage into pieces, and, bellowing loudly, made an attack on express messenger Terry. He jumped on a large pile of express matter, but was quickly driven from that position. The men at last made their escape through a side door of the car and closed it behind them. The seal raged for about five minutes and then dropped dead. The carcass, weighing 516 pounds, was taken to Armour's packing house and skinned. The remaining seal was carefully watered here this morning and shipped on to New York.

CHINA'S TREATY.

What Representatives Vandever and Hermann Have to Say.

New York, July 8th.—A World's Wasnington special says: Speaking of the Chinese Minister's threat of retaliation, Representative Hermann of Oregon to-day said: "The Minister must have been taking something. The Chinese generally are shrewd, silent and sagacious in diplomacy. The question of excluding the Chinese is a labor question of this country. There is not a laboring organization in the United States that will not make it its own. Speaking for the Pacific slope, I will say that the Chinese Government may do what it chooses toward preventing American capital, American commerce and American people from going there, but one thing is certain, and that is that Chinese cheap labor cannot come here. No amount of threatened retaliation will ever Hermann Have to Say. No amount of threatened retailation will ever cause us to take a backward step on that question. Chinese retailation will be a dead loss to the Chinese. To blace any obstacles in the way of the immigration of American citizens. the importation of American cattle and the im-

"The Chinese had better not sound their gong so loud," said Representative Vandever. "It won't do them any good. We are going to continue to exclude Chinese. We had the consent of the Chinese Government to all the legislation we have enacted against Chinese immigration, and it is too late to kick now."

RAILWAY EMPLOYES.

A Proposition te Encourage Them to Invest Their Money. CHICAGO, July 8th.—Concerning the published umors that the officers of the Illinois Central rumors that the officers of the Illinois Central Railway Company are seeking to induce the employes to invest their savings in securities of that corporation, President Fish said to-day that the company has no stock for sale, but propose to seeking the same of the same that the company has no stock for sale, but proposes to assist any of its officers or employes to buy one share at a time at a fair market price, the purchaser to pay in sums of not less than $5. On these sums the interest is to be credited, and when the share is paid for he can, if he wishes, begin the purchase of another.

It is hoped to enlist every frugal person in any way connected with the railroad as a partner on a basis of the utmost liberality to the small proprietor. It is not proposed to form a savings bank or benevolent association, the experience of the company being that the men savings bank or benevoient association, the en-perience of the company being that the men prefer to handle these matters themselves. The purchaser may at any time have his contract cancelled and his money returned to him with interest. Thus the company assumes the entire risk of a fall in the price of the shares and the expense of doing the work.

President Fish's belief is that if this plan is President Fish's belief is that if this plan is properly presented, it will induce greater thrift among the men, and through their example spread among the people a habit of savings and investing in securities of the railroad which runs past their doors. The ultimate object is to produce a community of interest between the citizens and railways, which shall give perfection to the railway service and the most profitable of investments for the small proprietor on sound dividend-paying railway shares.

The men fought with skin gloves. In the first round Weir led with skin gloves. In the first round Weir led the fighting, and got in two blows on Connor, although the latter scored on Weir's left eye. In the second Connor made a ferocious effort to reach Weir, but failed. In the third he tried it again with the same result, and before he could recover Weir stretched him on the floor with a right-hander on the jaw. He gathered himself up. but was too weak to continue, and the "Spider" soon sent him back again with a smash in the mouth, knocking him out.

permitted to withdraw. All the delegates from New York State applauded and refused to leave the hall. A Brooklyn Elk said: "We are here and will remain. All we want is protection in our rights" He was assured that would be done. The roll call snowed 120 members present. Adjourned until Wednesday morning.

Every lodge but No. 1, of New York City, is represented. The parade this afternoon, although the heat was almost unbearable, was a success. A banquet at the City Armory to-night was largely attended. No intoxicating beverages were served.

Last night the two men were drinking together in Clayton's saloon opposite Belgrade's hotel, and both are said to have been under the influence of liquor. Belgrade, who was living alone, prevailed on Hewitt, about 11 P. M., to accompany him home. The men then went to Belgrade's house, and retired for the night, occupying the same bed. This forenoon they were seen together again, still drinking. Leaving Clayton's saloon they returned to Belgrade's house.

Shortly after noon the people heard the report of three pistol shots issue from the house, and a few minutes afterward Hewitt was seen to come out of the back door, closely pursued by Belgrade, who was carrying a shotgun. While running, Hewitt was calling to Belgrade not to shoot him. After going a short distance he fell on his knees, it is supposed from weakness, as he had received a mortal wound while in the house from a pistol shot. While on his knees Hewitt again besought Belgrade for God's sake not to shoot him. Rising to his feet, he again started to run, when Belgrade raised the shotgun to his shoulder and fired. Hewitt ran a distance of about forty feet and fell on his face. Bystanders rushed to him and turned him over. He gave one gasp and expired. The him over. He gave one gasp and expired. The fatal shot struck him in the left side and mad fatal shot struck him in the left side and made an ugly wound.

After Hewitt had fallen Belgrade returned to the house. No one had the courage to follow and arrest him. In a few minutes the Coroner and Deputy Sheriff strived at the scene of the killing. While the body of Hewitt was being cared for the Deputy Sheriff weut to the house for the purpose of arresting Belgrade. Going into the room he found him lying on the floor in a pool of blood, dead, with his throat cut from ear to ear, holding a hlood-stained razor in his right hand. Both of the bodies were brought to the Morgue, and an inquest will be held to-morrow. The affair caused great excitement in this city, and large crowds visited the Morgue to view the remains.

Hewitt was 43 years of age. He leaves a widow and considerable property. Belgrade was a well-known character about the city for a number of years and is said to have borne an unsavory reputation.

URUGUAY'S FINANCES.

The Legislature Meets in Special Session

London, July 8th.—The Times prints a dispatch dated Buenos Ayres, with reference to the financial crisis in Uruguay. The dispatch states that the Uruguayan Legislature met in special session Sunday to consider what course to pursue in view of the suspension of specie payments by the National Bank. A bill was passed, which will be promulgated at once, sanctioning the suspension of specie payments for six months. This action has alarmed the merchants and a deputation waited upon the Finance Minister, who assured the merchants that the Government had no intention of resorting to a forced currency. The Government fears that the people will not accept paper currency, but desires to save the National Bank, if possible, by the present intermediate measure. If the effort to assist the bank fails it will probably be forced to liquidate.

"A GROWL."

MR. EDITOR: Although my taxes are small, yet they are as burdensome to me as if I paid much more. And as a tax-payer, I feel that I have a right to criticise those extravagances that are factors in the creation of high taxes. I have in my mind the county hospital. No sooner does the impecunious citizen become broken down and debilitated, than he rushes off to the hospital. Even persistent dyspensia and constination are getting to be excuses for admission. Hence, allow me space to enter my feeble protest against further continuance of this pernicious practice. It costs too many hard dollars for the treatment of these unfortunates, and it is high time that they should know that they can save the county that expense, by the judicious use of a few bottles of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, -a remedy that within my observation is a sovereign cure for those too common disorders. ### AN ENORMOUS TAXATION SCHEME.

"Oh! but the enormous taxation," each year to patch up the dirt streets that exclaims the opponent of the improvement scheme. Is it enormous? You who have $1,000 listed on the assessment roll will pay on an issue of streets that improvement under the new plan will render unnecessary to be shoveled over and rounded up. Why, if the whole $100,000 should be expended the first year, your tax on $1,000 assessment would not the rounding-up system will more than twice exceed the tax under the improvement system. Where is your arithmetic, plus over the old cost of annually rounding where your economy, where your business wisdom, in the face of these figures, which are official?

TO OPPONENTS.

The opponents of street improvement say, "We have paid for intersection work, now you want to tax us for the streets of others-let them do as we did."

This is sophistical. It was not the fault of the city that you paid for intersection work. It is not intended to tax you for new street work, nor will you be so taxed. Why should you now object to that which will enhance your values? Why oppose doing that which will not cost you as much as you now pay for patching and smoothing each year the streets of others who will not or cannot improve them?

You will not save a solitary cent if the proposition of to-day is defeated. But if it carries, your taxation for general street work will be just as much less as is the cost of maintaining a graveled street less So that we will really get the new street work than the cost of rounding up and regrad-

THE CHIEF RIVERS.

PROSPECTIVE LABOR OF THE STATE RIVER AND HARBOR BOARD.

Engineer Grunsky Reports on the Need of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers.

The Board of Engineers whose duty it is, under the law, to examine the rivers sion and harbors of the State and report on a very simple one, and we can make it year still less, the third year still less and lowing report, outlining the scope of the work to be done:

commenced a work-oank protection for Sacramento river, which, to a small extent at least, may ameliorate the condition of the river at points below the same by maintaining an increased scouring caracity of the river, but which ostensibly is to serve only for the purpose of preserving the integrity of the river and of preventing it from leaving its present channel channel On the San Joaquin river there are a number On the San Joaquin river there are a number of instances where works recommended by the United States Army Engineers, and constructed at Government expense, have been in the line of permanent improvements, such as connections of the river's alignment and the construction of the overfall wier in Paradise cut. These improvements were such as might be hoped tion of the overfall wier in Paradise cut. These improvements were such as might be hoped to make the high water stages of the river effective in working a betterment of the river channel, and were intended to prevent injurious changes which might occur during the nigh stages of the river.

But all works on both of the rivers above named have been sanctioned by the United States army engineers solely because it was by them believed that these works would improve the low-water navigability of the rivers, not because they improved the rivers as drainage channels, or reduced the danger of a flooding of low lands.

The most notable precedent which has been established of an expenditure of money by Congress for the prevention of the inundations of large areas of laud is in the case of the Mississippi river. As early as 1842 Congress appropriated a large sum of money to be used in devising a system of preventing the inundation of the Mississippi delta, and the improvement of the mouths of that river. This purpose was clearly expressed in the Act appropriating the money, and in conformity with the policy then indicated Congress has been making appropriations annually for the construction and protection of levees along the banks of the Mississippi river, for the relief of sufferers from overflow caused by the breaking of levees maintained at Government expense, and for kindred purposes.

It may be urged that a systematic treatment of the Mississippi river, not be nead by a

It may be urged that a systematic treatment of the Mississippi river could not be had by a co-operation of States whose policies in this direction were hable to change, and that it was therefore a necessity for Congress to take cognizance of the peculiar condition there prevails ing and to point out through a properly const tuted River Commission what works should b The river improvement was paid for out of the national treasury and the work still goes on.

The rivers of California above named, which, with their tributaries, represent an aggregate navigable length of about 600 miles, are not throughout their navigable portions interstate rivers but this is no recent interstate rivers, but this is no why the right of the National Gover. improve them as drainage channels and to protect the 1,500,000 acres of land adjacent to them and which are now inadequately, or not at all, protected from overflow, should not be exerised as fully and with as good recults as migh be done if California were not the one great State that it is, but was cut up into a number of small States, like those along the Mississippi iver.

The importance of California's rivers as com mercial highways is unquestioned, and ha quite recently been recognized in Congress by the River and Harbor Committee of the Hous he River and Harbor Committee of the House of Representatives, which has recommended he appointment of a special Board of Army Engineers to examine into the condition of see rivers and to propose a comprehensive eatment. But California has still another ason to advance why Congress should at once sume control of the water-ways in the San aquin and Sacramento yalleys for the purpose of bettering them as drainage channels, as well as to improve their navigability. The usefulness of the main water-ways as outlets for flood water, as well as their navigability, has been greatly impaired by the darrier of project of the second seco deposit of mining debris in the river channels.
This debris is the direct result of the hydraulic mining industry which was sanctioned by the United States Government at the time when the great gravel deposits of the Sierra Nevada were old as mineral land from which gold could no be profitably extracted except by the hydrausic process. The injury done by the mining debris to the main channels of the rivers is not a fincied injury. It can be traced with absolute certainty along the course of the Sacramento river up to the mouth of the Feather river, up this great part of the result of river up to the mouth of the Feather river, up this stream past the mouth of the Bear river to the mouth of the Yuba, and up the American, Bear and Yuba in each case from the mouths of these streams to the points where they leave the hills. The extent of this injury and the loss of the capacity of the rivers need not be expressed even relatively by me at this time. It is sufficient for me to state that here at Sacramento the waterway of the river, when water was at the top of natural banks [19] feet on river was at the top of natural banks [19] feet on river was at the top of natural banks (19 feet on rive rod) in 1854, was about 31,400 sq. ft., while the average of many measurements since 1879 make the waterway at the same stage of the river only 19,100 square feet; the available channel during this time having been about 12 300 square feet, or 39 per cent. less than it would have been if hydraulic mining had never been practiced. The low water plane at Sacramento is now at about 7.5 on the river rod. It was 7.5 feet lower in 1849. The lowest point of the river bottom just below the city of Sacramen'o, where a sand bar now lies in the river, at its low stages, is e three feet higher than the old low some three feet higher than the old low-water plane of the river.

These great changes having been brought about by hydraulic mining operations (the disastrous effects of which when debris is disastrous effects of which when debris recognized by the United States Government authorities), it is but right that they should be restored to their original usefulness at the expense of e national Government. It is therefore clearly within the province of It is therefore clearly within the province of the proper Government authorities to undertake the improvement of California water courses as drainage channels, as well as to maintain their navigability. It follows that the rivers at their flood stages, when their capacity is far less than it was before hydraulic mining commenced, should receive the same consideration which they receive at their low stages, and it will not then be long before Congress will have before it the necessary recommendations. have before it the necessary recomn for a comprehensive treatment of the rivers above named, looking to their permanent improvement as the drainways and as the commercial highways of the great central valley. Under the law creating the Commission, which certainly does not intend to make the Commission a part of the lobby at the national capital, the most useful work which can now be undertaken may be enumerated as follows:

1. To prepare as full and complete a set of river maps as rossible of the Sacramento and for a comprehensive treatment of the rive er maps as possible of the Sacramento at San Joaquin rivers and their branches, who are to serve for office use and for publicat with the report of the Commission.

2. To prepare a full set of river profiles an eross-sections for office use and publication.

3. To collect the results of all prior survey. 8. To collect the results of all prior surveys and examinations, notably the work of the United States army Engineers and the work of the State Engineer's Department, including soundings and measurements of the flow of water in so far as they may prove of utility in water in so far as they may prove of utility in the comparisons to be made. he examination and comparisons to be ma y the Commission.
4. To tabulate all elevations along the river

8 To outline and discuss the relief measu 8 To outline and dissuss the relief measures proposed in the past
9. To make special examination of the mouths of Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers and of a number of selected points, including the mouth of Yuba river, the mouth of Bear river, the muth of Feather river, the mouth of American river, the head of Steamboat Slough, Hog-back, the mouth of Cache Slough, the outfalts of Cache and Putah creeks, Paradic Cat, the head of old San Joaquin river and other of the rivers above named and to improve their connection with a comprehensive system of river treatment.

The subject which has been intrusted to this Commission for investigation and report is one of great importance to California, and the Commission should receive the earnest co-operation of all who can in any way aid it in carrying its work forward to a successful outcome.

The law creating this Commission is defective in not placing an expense fund, out of which to pay for hire of assistants and other necessary expenses, at he Commission's disposal. The only provision made for expenses is in the clause providing for payment of the traveling expenses of each member of the Commission. The Commission is therefore compelled to work at a great disadvantage, and even though the offer of its idividual members to advance money for its use be accepted, the sum

New Challis.

This has been a great season for Challis, and choice designs are scarce. We have just received from New York a large assortment at each price— 5, 121/2 and 20 cents a vard—in which the colorings and designs are especially tasty. The Challis at 121/2 cents has colored grounds, and both in color, weave and design closely resemble the India Pongees sold in Eastern cities at 20 cents.

Our 20-cent Challis has cream grounds, and the color combinations happily harmonize. Being part wool, this Challis drapes gracefully, and is not subject to shrinkage.

THE SUPERVISORS AND BOARD OF EQUALIZATION ALTERNATE.

Alleged Questionable Methods of a Road Overseer-Andrus Island Trustees Election Called.

The Board of Supervisors reassembled takes part, and where there is a perspective yesterday forenoon, Chairman Ross pre-Seats will be on sale Thursday at popular siding and all the members present. A report was received from County Surveyor Boyd on the matter of the disputed boundary line between Sacramento and San Joaquin counties, near Dry creek. In the report the Surveyor said he had discovered that some 800 acres for which taxes had been paid into San Joaquin's one of the most entertaining that has been Supervisor Tebbets remarked, after hearing the report, that steps should be taken to get the amount of taxes collected by San Joaquin.

F. Shepherd, the draughtsman who made up the official county map, disputed the assertion of the Surveyor. He said the said and the Assessor's books were made up in accordance with them. San Joaquin, how-ever, claimed that its lines extended above Dry creek, and assessed accordingly. Sacramento had also assessed down to Dry creek—thus some persons had been paying taxes into both counties. Sacramento county had lost nothing. Both counties were now agreed upon the lines and there would be no more double assessing.
G. A. Knott and H. Hebb of Isleton ap-

G. A. Knott and H. Hebb of Isleton appeared before the Board to "kick" against the manner in which Road Overseer Dickey of their district is doing his work. They claimed that Dickey keeps a hotel down there and gets the board bills paid by giving the boarders all the road work. These boarders were not practical roadworkers, and the result was extraverent. workers, and the result was extravagant outlays for little or no work in return. Knott went still further by intimating that there was worse than this going on, and he suggested that the Board would do well to examine some of Mr. Dickey's demands

After some discussion the Board practically decided to take Mr. Dickey's place from him temporarily, and in the mean-time Chairman Ross would look into the matter, as well as to have done the road work said to be necessary.

The Board met for a few minutes as a Board of Equalization and then took a re-

Startled Him. Supervisor Bates frequently gets restless during the sessions of the Board, and it is a common thing for him to jump up during a lull in the proceedings and prance about the chamber-"just to limber up," as he explains it himself.

Well, he was indulging in one of these was sitting as a Board of Equalization late and was ready to adjourn, anyhow. Monday atternoon, when his eye happened to rest upon the ponderous assessment roll books which had been spread out on a table for the use of the Board and persons who wished their assessments reduced.
"Humph! Wonder what these fellows have been putting me down for this year,' he muttered as he stepped over to the table and began turning over the leaves of Presently he came to the page wherein the judgment of the assessor as to the value of Mr. Bates' ranch was recorded. The Supervisor dropped his cigar, his eyes bulged from their sockets, his face became livid and he began to gasp for breath.

"Wha-wha-what's this! Whoop! Wow

Mr. Bates was now doing a war dance and his colleagues ran excitedly to his side, thinking he had been seized with epilepsy.

After frequent applications of cold water to a reasonably calm state and asked what "Why-why confound it, can't you see? Look at that book!" he shouted, and he began to exhibit premonitions of a fresh More water was brought and then Mr Black examined the book. "Nothing the

THE LEVIA-RICHTER CASE. It Bids Fair to Make Further Business

for the Police Court. Mary Richter and Lena Levia, charged with battery, burglary and petit larceny, did not appear in Court yesterday when Judge Buckley called their cases. The defendants were tried on Saturday last, and it was understood at the time that if the lefendant, Lena Levia, would return the rings she had taken from her father, the cases would be dismissed. The Court accordingly announced that the verdict would not be rendered until Tuesday.

The father of Miss Levia was in Court yesterday, and stated that the rings had been returned to him. He said, however, that since the trial the defendants were continually annoying him, and he showed the Court a large rock which one of the women had thrown at the house.

Judge Buckley ordered the cases contin ued until to-day, and it is quite probable the defendants will not get off as easily as they have expected.

I try to sell a few articles of ladies' and childeren's clothing, etc. I have worked in this I try to sell a few articles of ladies' and children's clothing, etc. I have worked in this city over fourteen years, and often find the streets in rainy weather impassable a little out from the center of town, and the people are complaining because the streets are so bad. If all could see how much extra money they pay for drayage and being obliged to ride on street cars and the cabs, no one could reasonably object to the proposed street bonds for their lovely city of Sacramento.

I hope all will read the third chapter of Titus, first verse: "Put them in mind to be subject to the proposed street bonds for their lovely city of Sacramento."

WEAK and weary" describes the condifirst verse: "Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers; to obey magistrates, and to be ready to do very good work."

Woodson, on behalf of the Literary Committee, reported that the amount allowed his committee had been expended, Father Power of the Jesuit College, Santa with the exception of $1 65, which he turned over to the Treasurer. The report was approved. Mr. Gilbert, of the Amusement Committee, made a brief report regarding the fireworks. He said that from the various expressions of opinion he had heard he believed the fireworks display had been satis-

Mr. Woodson thought a vote of thanks was due those who attended to the fireworks, as the display had been an unusually fine one, replete with new features, and he made a motion to that effect, which was unanimously carried.

The appropriation of $300 for the Horribles was ordered paid. The athletic club's item of $450 was also pproved.
W. B. Miller stated that owing to the great success of the athletic entertainment, he thought a vote of thanks should be tendered the club. The entertainment wa one of the big features of the day, and he hoped that the club would come forward again in future celebrations. The show had proved a surprise to all who attended, and the fact that such an organization belonged to Sacramento reflected credit upon the city. In conclusion he made a motion to the effect that the Secretary be instructed to convey the thanks of the committee to the Sacramento Athletic Club in writing for the able manner in which it had carried out the entertainment. The motion was carried unanimously. Other bills were then read and approved as follows: Fire department, $125; Grand $50; music, $519; printing; $471 20; janitor, this month. The conditions are named in $5; ice-water and wagons. $8; parade committee (floats, etc.), $195; Secretary, $50. The total expenses were found to be within the limit provided for the celebration by the committee. The difference be tween the cash collected from citizens and the sum of the cost of the celebration is to be met by the amounts to be received from the Supervisors and the Trustees. putting something else forward. It is only another of those desperate attempts to make capital off from the name and reputation the Mathushek Piano has gained. As a matter of fact, it is really gratifying to see how much the name is appreciated, and that it is considered so valuable that previous failures don't seem to dampen the ardor of the projectors. We are confident in the belief, however, from the financial standing of the new concern, that no longer lease of life will be accorded them than was granted their predecessors. The Mathushek Piano is pretty well installed, and we hardly think the public will be beguiled into buying a piano made by Jacobs oros, for a Mathushek. ## CONGRESSIONAL.

IN THE SENATE. Washington, July 8th.—In the Senate te-day the conference report on the Silver bil was taken up. Vest stated the reasons why he should vote Vest stated the reasons why he should vote against the report. A large majority of the Senate had voted, he said, for the free coinage of silver, but the conference report absolutely did away with all idea of free coinage and it was intended to continue the system under which silver had been persistently and consistently degraded stoce 1873. He was anxious to see absolute parity between the two metals. He would like to see the time when sixteen ounces of silver would purchase an ounce of gold, and when an ounce of gold would continue (as at present) to purchase sixteen ounces gold, and when an ounce of gold would continue (as at present) to purchase sixteen ounces of silver. It has been put in, he said, for the purpose of saying to the Treasury Department that until silver came to a parity with gold it should pay out gold and public business should be conducted on a gold basis. He for one would never vote to ma ntain and continue that practice. He never had been a "silver man" for the purpose of booming silver.

Coke followed Vest in a concurring speech.

Sherman defended and explained the conference report.

would never vote to his fittin and counted that practice. He never had been a "silver man" for the purpose of booming silver.

Coke followed Vest in a concarring speech. Sherman defended and explained the conference ence report.

The question had arisen in the Conference Committee, he said, whether the two houses could be brought to an agreement on the two bills passed by them respectively. In the first section of the conference bill the language of the first section of the House bill had been retained somewhat, but the amount of silver to be purchased kad been increased. It has been made mandatory, not permissive, on the Secretary of the Treasury to buy 4,500,000 ounces of silver each month, which at the rate of $1.29 an ounce (or 15 to 1) would amount to a yearly issue of about $70,000,000 in treasury notes.

Stewart—"Does the Senator from Ohio think there is any danger of the Secretary of the Treasury falling to buy 4,500,000 ounces of silver per month, if he can get it at less than par, as provided in the Act?"

Method to be glad to hear that "Bill" Veach is playing great ball in the East with the Cleveland Club, and the people there think there is no player like him. The Cranks' Club at Cleveland recently met, and one of the members read the following poem, which was ordered filed with the archives of the club:

Do you know Veach?

Strong of arm an' long o' reach, Quick of eye an' sure o' catch—Ne'er a man in town his match; Swift to act an' slow of speech—That's Veach.

per month, if he can get it at less than par, as provided in the Act?"

Sherman—"Not the slightest. The Senate cannot legislate on the idea that the officer of the Government will not execute the law."

Voorhies said the trouble about the conference believes the Scorters of the Voorhies said the trouble about the conference bill was not whether the Secretary of the Treasury would obey the law, but that every single section of the bill gave discretion to the Secretary of the Treasury, who was "packed" against silver. Every single section of the bill conferred and was intended to confer discretion on the Secretary of the Treasury by which he could destroy, dishonor and degrade silver as money. He did not reflect upon the present Secretary of the Treasury. The Treasury Department had been packed against silver ever since he (Voorhies) had been a member of the Senate, not merely under the Republican party, but under his own party, until he was weary of it.

At 3 o'clock the conference report on the silver bill went over until to-morrow, and eulogies on the late Representative Cox of New York were begun.

Washington, July 8th.—In the House to-day the Senate amendments were concurred in to the House bill for the admission of the State of Wyoming.

On motion of Carey of Wyoming the Senate amendments were concurred in to the House bill for the disposal of abandoned military reservations in Wyoming.

The Speaker laid before the House the Senate bill to adopt regulations for preventing collisions at sea.

The bill having been read, Dingley of Maine explained that the purpose of the bill was the adoption of the regulations to prevent collisions at sea, which had been unanimously adopted by the International Marine Conference. The members of the conference were of opinion that the code of signals provided in the bill would prove more effective than any other that could be devised. previous question was then ordered and the bill passed by yeas 125, nays 45.

Cannon, from the Committee on Rules, reported a resolution for calling up the original package and bankruptcy bills, but Payson interposed the land grant forfeiture bill, and the

Foster's recent trip to California and Lower California, made at the instance of Attorney-General Miller, for the purpose of obtaining exact information as to the alleged conspiracy on the part of an English company to take forcible possession of the peninsula of Lower California and to hold it against the Mexican Government, the Department of Justice is just now in possession of the real facts of the

Much Sickness Prevails, and the Indians Almost Starving

Almost Starving

St. Paul, July 8th.—A Pioneer Press special from Pierre, S. D., says the news from the Chevenne Indian Agency confirms the surmise of the trouble at that point. About 4.000 Indians are at the agency, and created a disturbance to-day when they found that no rations could be issued until Tuesday. The delay is caused by the fact that cattle were not driven in from the ranges, thus leaving the Indians almost starv ng from Monday until to-morrow. The Indians also object to be counted in the census, and the census will be taken with great difficulty. The condition of the Indians is deployable. Yesterday ten died of consumption and lung fever, and the physician had many more serious cases on his hands. The sickness prevails almost entirely among the semi-civilized.

THE BEHRING SEA TROUBLE. Story Purporting to Give the Inside

Facts of the Negotiations. Facts of the Negotiations.

New York, July 8th.—The World this morning has a double-leaded story purporting to give the history and present status of the negotiations between the United States and Great Britain relative to the Behring Sea sealery dispute. It stated that Blaine began by trying to maintain that Behring Sea was a closed sea, but was forced to abandon that position. He then contended that the United States had certain legal rights in Behring Sea which Great Britain did not possess, but after a long debate finally conceded that the matter was one to be settled by agreement.

When Blaine raised the question of the right of the United States to prevent the capture of seals in Behring sea by British vessels Sir Julian Pauncefote pointed out that when Russia set up the same contention in 1824 this Government was first to resist it. After much argument on this rour Plains and the content of the resist it. his point Blaine made the proposition that no ersons except the North American Commis-ioners' companies under contract with the Luited States should be allowed to capture seals on Rebring see Behring sea. Finding that Sir Julian Pauncefote would not consent to such an arrangement, he was perplexed, yet prepared to listen to the proposition advanced by the British Minister, which was to prevent the destruction of seals in Behring Sea during a certain season, and to keep British and Canadian vessels outside of the prevent representations. ne prybylor zone until the matter could be erred to a joint commission appointed by both overnments. In case of the failure to arrive at a satisfactory agreement, the matter was to be eferred to one or two of the crowned heads of urope to act as an arbitration com hose decision in the matier was to be fina whose decision in the matier was to be final. This proposition was said to have been entirely satisfactory to Blaine, but by no means pleasing to the President, who rejected it.

The World states that likely there may be a branch of information relating to the subject which would, if made public, cause it to appear in a less serious light. If the matter were as grave as has been indicated, it is not at all likely that Blaine would be resting quietly at Bar Harbor.

NO TRUTH IN THE REPORT. VICTORIA (B. C.). July 8th .- The statements which have been appearing in American papers which have been appearing in American papers dated Victoria, to the effect that schooners were arriving here and at Maple bay for the purpose of resistance to American revenue cutters in the Behring Sea, are wholly without foundation. Sealers are generally of the opinion that no seizures will be made this year, and have gone into the Behring Sea in large numbers. gone into the Behring Sea in large numbers.

There is a rumor here that the English war cruisers lately arrived in port will go into the Behring Sea for the protection of British sealears, but this has not yet been confirmed.

SPEEDY FIREWORKS.

The People of Willows Were Given a Novel Display. Charles Eilerman, the well-known cornetist, has returned from Willows, where he went last week to participate in the Fourth of July celebration. Mr. Eilernan says the entertainment during the day was a brilliant affair, particularly the athletic entertainment, which was partici-pated in by Professor James Corbett and other notables from the Olympic Club of San Francisco.

But the display of fireworks in the evening, says he, eclipsed everything else.

An immense crowd gathered to see the display. After a couple of preliminary rockets had been successfully fired off, editor Shorn of the Journal stepped up to the big motto "Welcome," and tried to set toff with a match. It didn't light worth cent, and while he was fishing in his vestpocket for another match the piece sud-denly went off of its own accord. It was a beautiful piece, so its eccentricities were overlooked

The last "Ah!" of the audience was oating away in the night air, when suddenly the big box of rockets, bombs, Ro-man candles and other fireworks began to explode. Sky rockets shot in a hundred direction, bombs were exploded by the thousands, hundreds of people made a grand stampede to get out of the way, and for a few minutes never did a city see such

A bomb exploded underneath Mr. Eiler-man and spoiled his best suit of clothes. Other persons were singed and had their clothes spoiled, but beyond this, despite the terrible confusion that prevsiled no one was injured. Although the fireworks display only lasted a few minutes, and twenty pieces of bone came out of her leg. She was decidedly of a jumbled nature, it was was not able to walk for eight months, and was a sight that will long be remembered.
